Webinar Report

Webinar: Study Of Regional History: Possibilities and Limitations

Date: 9th & 10th July 2020

Jointly organized by

Department of History, Khatra Adibasi Mahavidyalaya, Saldiha College & Barjora College, Bankura

Aim & Objective of the Webinar:

India is a vast country with diversity. In such a large country the history written on nationalistic outlook cannot represent all equally. As a result, a valuable approach to study history develops from nationalist historiography, which is termed as regional or local history. The result of this studies filled many missing information in historical knowledge and acted as a corrective to some of the earlier accepted information on national history. The growth of interest in regional history develops the idea of establishing regional historical research societies in various parts of India under the inspiration of the Asiatic Society of Bengal.

Study of regional history strengthens the bonds between varied regions, by doing comparative and statistical analysis. Moreover, it also helps in understanding the modes of administration and urbanization. Hence, the scope and significance of regional history is ever extending and broadening the horizons of historical knowledge.

So, in the time of Pandemic three colleges of Bankura district decided to organize Webinar or Online Seminar jointly. HOD, Department of History, Khatra Adibasi Mahavidyalaya, Dr. Alope Bhowmik, HOD, Department of History, Saldiha College, Dr. Sanjoy Mukherjee and HOD, Department of History, Barjora College, Shri Abirlal Bandopadhyay decided to organize jointly a Webinar to continue academic activity in such a crucial time.
